"It does not mildew, become musty or sour, and none, excepting yours, withstanding for any length of time, the warmth and moisture of the South."

"I was not a little surprised in learning the attention and labor required in depriving Tobacco of its impurities, preparatory to cutting and curing. The manner of doing which in this establishment, certainly deserves unlimited commendation, as it here forms a branch by itself, and is managed by those whose services are devoted to no other purposes."

"The perfect neatness existing throughout this extensive establishment, where from 200 to 250 operatives are daily employed in its various departments, richly merits the encomiums that have been bestowed by the press, as well as the premiums awarded by the American Institute for the choicest quality of Tobacco and Snuff—and it may be seen at a glance in an establishment like this, where no doubt millions of pounds of Tobacco are manufactured annually into Chewing and Smoking Tobacco and Snuff, that less capital invested, and not the same laborious attention given, with the necessary experience, tact and skill, must fall short of producing as good an article, or the possibility of its being afforded at the same rates."
